

How Movements Count

Over 1,020 church planting movements (rapidly multiplying groups that have surpassed four generations of church planting in multiple streams) have been documented. Together, they comprise over 73 million believers in over 4.3 million churches.

When people hear this fact, they often ask: how are they counted? One implication of this question is, are they counted in a way that others can accept as credible?

Read the answer at https://www.missionfrontiers.org/pdfs/MF42-3_Web-40-44.pdf.